Subject: Professional Development Opportunities, 50th Version, November 13, 2023 to June 2024, Clayton R. Wright

Dear Colleague:

The 50th edition contains selected professional development opportunities that primarily focus on the use of technology in educational settings and on teaching, learning, and educational administration.

A surprise to no one, artificial intelligence (AI) is the leading topic professional development organizers want attendees to discuss. Discussions have moved from concerns about privacy and cheating to how best to employ AI to increase student success and issues pertaining to copyright and ethics. Though AI may not be noted in the title of the conference or online event, it is highly likely that several event sessions will cover the topic, as well as cybersecurity and factors affecting student success.

As I produce the list as a professional courtesy to help faculty developers and educators in developing countries find current educational resources that match their colleagues' interests, please feel free to share the list with colleagues or "cut and paste" a customized version for them that only covers a specific topic, such as teaching and learning or AI. Or, gather events that only occur in Australia, UK, or Vietnam. DO CHECK the specific event website not only for basic information, but to assure yourself that the event is legitimate and worth spending your time and money on and/or submitting a paper to.

While you are enjoying your weekend, do remember those who fought for us so long ago and those who serve us today. However, I do acknowledge that different countries recognize their troops on different days.

Professional Development Opportunities in Educational Technology and Education

(Formerly Educational Technology and Education Conferences)

For November 13, 2023 to June 2024, Edition #50

Prepared by Clayton R. Wright, crwr77 at gmail .com, November 10, 2023

The 50th edition contains selected professional development opportunities that primarily focus on the use of technology in educational settings and on teaching, learning, and educational administration. Only listings until June 2024 are most complete as dates, locations, or Internet addresses (URLs) were not available for a number of events held after that date.

A significant challenge during the assembly of this list is incomplete or conflicting information on websites and the lack of a link between conference websites from one year to the next.

An explanation for the content and format of the list can be found at <http://newsletter.alt.ac.uk/2011/08/why-distribute-documents-in-ms-word-or-openoffice-for-an-international-audience/>. A Word or an OpenOffice format is used to enable people with limited or high-cost Internet access to find a professional development opportunity that is congruent with their interests or obtain abstracts or event proceedings. Consider using the “Find” tool under Microsoft Word’s “Edit” tab or similar tab in OpenOffice to locate the name of a particular event, association, city, or country. If you enter the country “Australia” or place, such as “Vancouver” in the “Find” tool, all conferences that occur in Australia or Vancouver will be highlighted. Or, enter the word “research” or “assessment”. (Note that key words such as “research” or “assessment” may not be present in the conference title, yet these topics could be discussed during a particular conference.) Then, “cut and paste” a list of suitable events for your colleagues.

Please note that events, dates, titles, and locations may change and some events may be cancelled. Thus, CHECK the specific event website not only for basic information, but to assure yourself that the event is legitimate. Some events are not quality-focused. I genuinely try to compile a list of events that will give you value for your time and money. But, I may not always succeed. Take the time to conduct your own due diligence for any events you want to attend or submit a paper to. You could consider using the checklists at Think Check Attend, <https://thinkcheckattend.org/> which “aims to guide and assist researchers and scholars to judge the legitimacy and academic credentials of conferences in order to help them decide whether to or not attend the same”.

All Web addresses were verified at the time of publication. No liability is assumed for any errors that may have been introduced inadvertently during the assembly of this FREE list of events. Kindly retain the contact information when you re-distribute the list or mount it on the web as that is how I receive notices of future events. crw
